“ I was spending the week at Mike house and I would follow him to the school yard when he would play ball. I was swinging on the swings. After game was over he ask me if I wanted something to eat. He took me to this out door place on northern Blvd. He also liked the girl there. He asked what I wanted. Then he got a cup of ice and dumped the ice down my shirt.

“ *It's not how long we held each other's hand
What matters is how well we loved each other
It's not how far we traveled on our way
But what we found to stay
It's not the spring we've seen, but all the shades of green*

*It's not how long I held you in my arms
What matters is how sweet the years together
It's not how many summertimes we had to give to fall
The early morning smiles I'd tearfully recall
What matters most is that we loved at all.*

“ One conversation that I had with Michael that I will never forget is when the family was walking on the street after eating at a burger place - his treat - and he approached me and put his arm around my shoulder and said "good job raising Sammy and Ally" ... Who knew that it would be the last one on one conversation that I would have with him...

Thank you for living life with us, Michael.

We will love you forever.
