“ Family of Phil,

First, I apologize that this letter is belated.

As part of the family ownership of the company that Phil worked for for many years (Duke), I wanted to let you know that Phil has made a significant impact to our business and the people in it (as I hope you've already gleaned from the many stories passed along already). Three traits stick out for me when I think about Phil. First, he was a very positive and proactive fellow. Second, he had a passion and energy that was contagious. I can recall countless brainstorm sessions where his passion and enthusiasm permeated throughout the team. Finally, he had an incredible heart. He cared for his colleagues and felt their pain as his own. On one occasion, he literally broke down in my office and started to cry because he felt a beloved colleague was not being treated fairly.

Our company's purpose is to Nourish Our World. We are all proud, and you should be too, of how Phil exemplified this in his personal and professional life. May God's grace be with you all as you take comfort that Phil has made it to a much better place.

“ Philly was a wonderful, good soul. We have been friends since 1993 at Adamatic. I had the honor and fun of working with him twice in our careers. He was in fact a powerful intellect, a problem solver, innovator, product development wizard, and a terrific colleague to be with. He loved his nieces and nephews, and his grandpa in Italy. We had many conversations about those kids, and his pride in them. It was refreshing to hear him dote on them.

I couldn't stop laughing when he showed me the Ferrari engine he kept in his living room for a while. "Who the hell does that??" He did. I will miss him so much.

Here's an Amstel or Stella to you, old friend.

May the Good Lord hold you in the palm of His hand, and take you for a spin around the course at Heaven's Grand Prix.

Your eternal friend,

“ I remember when Phil joined Duke. We needed someone to visit our customers and service companies, presenting our “solutions partner” culture to the markets around the world. Phil was a true “road warrior” willing to go anywhere, whenever, and he did. First thing I realized was this guy has integrity, and that I could trust him fully. He never took advantage of his expense account, treating everything that he did, as if it was his own company, and, in a way, it was.

Though these experiences came many stories, which when told, drove our company to improve. Phil was the voice of our customers, driving changes that gave us success in the marketplace. He understood the value of relationships and built more than we’ll ever know.

Needless to say, we have lost a valuable member of our team, but the bigger loss is of a loved, personal friend.

“ My sincere condolences to you and your family. Phil was such a great guy.

Here are a few pictures of Phil at the Subway Convention in 2015 in Las Vegas.

His loss will be felt by all that knew him. Such knowledgeable person that was always willing to help out. I was just in a team building seminar with him a few months back and I had the privilege to team up with him during the seminar. It was a great experience of learning and laughing. Phil always has a story to share to keep everyone intrigued.

Prayers to you!

“ To the family of Phil,

It was some shock to hear of the passing of Phil.

I worked with Phil on his many visits to Australia and shared a day at the Australian GP with him, where we drank too much and supported Ferrari too loud. Phil loved his car racing, and as we say here - he was bat-shit crazy for it.

I would like to say to Phil's nieces, he often spoke of your shared trips to Europe, please take solace knowing you were very loved by him.

Big Phil was always polite, a true gentleman, and will be missed by myself and my family - my girls loved learning New Yorker phrases from Phil.

Good bye Phil, my mate, may the road ahead stretch out straight and the tank never be empty...

“ To the Tiberio family from John burch.

I wanted to extend my heartfelt sympathy to you after hearing the very bad news about our friend and colleague PHIL.

Phil and I spent a lot of happy times travelling around to Duke customers in Australia and also Asia over a 5 year period...We always had a great time and a lot of laughs together..I would always drive and PHIL would fondly refer to me as "Chauffeur".. " Hey Chauffeur" c'mon where we going today??....PHIL was Great guy and both of us, being serious fans of motor sport, always had lots to talk about,especially any F1 Ferrari news..he was a Ferrari expert in every way and collected many Ferrari models on his travels down under. He was a very knowledgable engineer and had a wealth of knowledge about all aspects of Duke equipment.

Although I retired a couple of years ago, Phil and I kept in regular contact via email and texting especially when a F1 race was on.. I will surely miss him as will all his many friends and colleagues. RIP old mate...

“ Very shocked by Phil's passing. Although he and I never worked together on a project at Duke, we became fast friends, partially because we shared a quirky sense of humor.

I'll remember the jokes and laughs he provided, but as he was also exceptionally gifted at his craft, he would selflessly take the time to provide more inexperienced coworkers like me with guidance and advise on my development.

Phil left a great impact on me both professionally and personally and I have nothing but fond memories.

“ To the Tiberio family from the Duke International team.

We wanted to express our shock and sadness at the passing of our dear friend Phil.

As you will know he travelled extensively for the company and we had the privilege and joy of getting to know your beloved Phil over a period of 5-10 years.

We loved his stories and respected immensely his passion for his family, Italy, Ferrari, watches and our work together at Duke. He was a great guy to have on our team and he got things done for us during some exciting & challenging growth periods in our International division.

When any of us came to St Louis Phil would always make time for us and invest in us during our visit with his time and meals together. Phil was very kind and I have been on the end of this kindness when he gave me two of his watches during a visit some years ago. Although we are far away in distance, we wanted you to know that Phil has been very much in our thoughts this week and we wanted to put on record how he impacted our lives over here in the UK and other Countries he visited. He made a difference for Duke as well acting as a travelling missionary, contributing to and driving of our International business.

Our loss is heavens gain and we will miss him dearly.

Respectively submitted.
